It is clear that there was a ton of energy, time and resources spent on making sure every student went home with a Covid test kit, was sent instructions for registration and logging results, and reminders sent so that tests were taken on the proper dates prior to returning to school. I can't for the life of me understand why these tests weren't mandatory, in order to prevent the daily Covid exposures we are experiencing since January 3. In my opinion, this was a waste of resources, on so many levels.

It's no surprise that we're being hit with these positive cases so rapidly. We saw it coming and jumped through a bunch of hoops to help prevent exposure. And then made those measures pointless by making it optional.

If it's an option to send kids to school who are Covid positive, there must be an option for those of us who aren't willing to expose our kids to Covid. Please allow for some version of at home learning, do not penalize kids and parents who refuse to expose their children, or make some strict mandates with zero tolerance (masks, actual social distancing, weekly testing).
